

Full Beaver Moon

The Beaver Moon gets its name from the Algonquin tribe of North America who set their last beaver traps at this time before the waters and swamps froze.

Beavers are known for their hard work and by November, they have gathered enough food for the winter and built incredible lodges.

- 1 orange candle

- Fiery herbs or essential oils
(Basil, Cedarwood, Clove, Lime, Frankincense, Juniper, Nutmeg, Orange, Peppermint, Rosemary, Rose Geranium, Tangerine)

- Pen and paper

- Full Moon Oil (optional)

1. Before the ritual, gather all the necessary items and place them on your altar. Set an intention.
2. Take a moment to center yourself:
Feel your feet rooted into the earth. Raise your arms, look up, feel the power of the Full Moon.
3. Dress the candle with a fiery essential oil from the list above. If you don't have any essential oils, combine olive oil with any of the (dried) herbs.
4. Light the candle and say:
"Moonlight, guide and focus, Shine upon my goals; I am fully committed to see my hard work pay off."
5. Follow the prompts on the Moon journaling page.
6. Anoint the Moon sigil on the page with Full Moon oil and place it near a window. Let it be charged overnight.
7. Say "So mote it be" to close the ritual. Keep the journaling page in your Book of Mirrors.
