Cerridwen Invocation

*Dark mother, Bright mother
You who keep the cauldron
You who are the cauldron of storms and tides
Relentless and sure where mystery abides
And in abiding Is born and dies
By the sharp and merciful blade
Which severs the shade by the burning drink
The food of Gods and damned mortals alike
One word, one spell, one dream unfolding
Each to the end and there to begin again.
Cerridwen, hear us, answer our call
Bright mother!*
